

Italgas: UNI ISO 37001:2016 anti-corruption certification for all Group companies

Milan, 9 December 2020 – Italgas has obtained for the third consecutive year the UNI ISO 37001:2016 anti-corruption certification, achieving its extension also to the "anti-corruption government" of all Group companies, as well as the subsidiary Italgas Reti, which had already achieved it last year.

As confirmation of their commitment to legal compliance, in 2020 Toscana Energia, Medea, Italgas Acqua, Gaxa, Seaside, Umbria Distribuzione and Metano Sant'Angelo Lodigiano also introduced a system for preventing and combating corruption, adopted on a voluntary basis and certified in accordance with the internationally recognised standard.

The management system for prevention and combating has been verified by the independent certification body DNV GL Business Assurance, after in-depth analysis that have confirmed its adequacy and compliance with the required requirements, as well as its effective implementation.

"Legality, transparency, corporate responsibility, integrity - commented Italgas CEO, Paolo Gallo - are just some of the values that make up the polar star of our daily actions. That's why I consider the achievement of anti-corruption certification for the third consecutive year and its extension to all Group companies to be significant results that are at the same time coherent with the activities that we carry out every day along our network, serving 7,7 million customers all over the country".
