

ITALGAS PROFILE

Italgas is a Network Tech Company, a leader in the gas, water, energy efficiency and IT sectors. Italgas is the leading natural gas supplier in Italy and Greece and the third largest in Europe. The company operates a network of 81,000 kilometers and supplies around 8 million customers. With its subsidiaries in the water sector, the Group supplies - directly and indirectly - 6.2 million people (or 10 percent of the Italian population) in the regions of Lazio, Sicily and Campania.

The Group was founded in 1837. In its almost two hundred year history, it is considered to be the company that brought gas to Italian households and thus contributed to the country's economic and social development.

Today, Italgas is above all a company that looks to the future, with clear growth and development objectives, a major investment plan for the gradual expansion of services and the development of efficiency through the introduction of digital technologies that make network management more efficient every day and prepare the gas infrastructure for the introduction of renewable gases such as biomethane, synthetic methane and hydrogen.
